

Superintendent's email

Subject: Urgent Call to Advocate and Adopt Climate Education in [State's Name] Curriculum

Dear Superintendent [Superintendent's Last Name],

I trust this email finds you well. My name is [Your Name], and I am reaching out to you as a concerned resident of [Your State] with a deep commitment to addressing the urgent challenge of climate change through education.

In light of the critical mission of EARTHDAY.ORG, I am writing to bring your attention to the pivotal role that climate education can play in shaping a sustainable future. As the leader of our state's education system, your advocacy and leadership in incorporating climate education into our school curriculum can have a lasting impact on the next generation's understanding of the climate crisis.

Throughout history, education has been a powerful force for positive change. Now, more than ever, we need to equip our students with the knowledge and skills to navigate and address the complexities of climate change. Climate education not only fosters a deeper understanding of the science behind climate change but also empowers students to explore innovative solutions and contribute to a more sustainable future.

I urge you to consider joining a coalition of educators, NGOs, and corporations in supporting the following statement to demonstrate our state's leadership in the fight against climate change and the promotion of systemic responses for the sustainability of our planet:

"We, the undersigned, support a global dialogue and commitment to address the critical importance of climate change education to our future. We believe that the development of high-impact climate education opportunities in primary and secondary schools, universities, and vocational schools at scale will inspire the next generation to create a positive impact on the future of this planet. Climate change is a multi-generational challenge that requires a multigenerational response. Climate education is vital to the future of business, public administration, consumerism, health, social equity, and the very future of the planet."

I kindly request that you respond to this email, expressing your organization's interest in including your school district's name below this statement. Your support will not only contribute to the global dialogue on climate education but also demonstrate our state's commitment to preparing our students for the challenges and opportunities of a changing world.

Please forward your response to Kathleen Rogers at rogers@earthday.org.

Thank you for your time, and I appreciate your dedication to the education and well-being of our students.

Sincerely,

[Your Full Name]

[Your Email Address]

[Your Phone Number]

